THE INDIAN TROUBLES ARE ABOUT OVER AND THE "BOYS IN BLUE" ARE READY TO DIS-

PERSE. PINE RIDGE, S. D., Jan. 17, 1891 .- The council between the friendly and the hostile Indians has tended to allay the anxiety of many white people and assure the Indians that their fear of being massacred by the soldiers was without foundation. Everybody to-day seems to feel that the trouble has been brought to a close.

Up to noon to-day seventy-one guns had been turned in by the hostiles. More weapons are expected to-morrow.

An order has been issued directing the Seventh infantry, Colonel Merriam, which has been serving on Cherry Creek and the Lower Cheyenne River, near Standing Rock Agency, to return to its post, Fort Logan, Denver. Rodney's battery, which has also been serving in the same vicinity, has been ordered back to Fort Riley. Colonel Summer's command, comprising the Eighth cavalry and Third infantry have been ordered to return to Fort Meade. It has also been decided that the Sixth cavalry, formerly under General Carr, comprising nine troops of about 500, will here-

Carr, comprising nine troops of about 500, will hereafter be located in the Department of the Platte, with headquarters at Fort Niobrara.

The cavalry force at Fort Robinson will also be increased, and it is expected that the new order of affairs will tend to the rehabilitation of Fort Mckinney, at which there are now only two troops of the Ninth cavalry under Colonel Henry.

This strengthening of the cavalry along the reservation is intended as a safeguard and to revive the confidence of the people, who have been long in danger of the Indian outbreaks. The question is now being discussed of allowing members of the First infantry under Colonel Shafter, who feel so disposed, to remain in this department.

The Indian camp is quiet to day. The Cheyennes have already been sent on their way to Tongue River. The Brules will be sent to the north. Those from Standing Rock will be returned thither and the Ogailalias will be kept here.
